Category	Problems	Speed Loss
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Registry Errors Registry errors significantly affect computer stability	472	Medium
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Junk Files Junk files take up disk space and slow down the system	3,138	Serious
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Broken Shortcuts Broken shortcuts adversely affect system performance	170	Mild
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Fragmented Files Fragmentation can severely slow down your computer	13,895	Dangerous

A summary at the bottom states: "A total of 17,675 problems were detected on your computer and need to be fixed now." A "Repair Now" button is visible. A callout bubble points to a "Show details" checkbox, which is circled in red.
